

In a time when more and more freedoms are being stripped from Americans, we should at least have the right to protect our privacy as best as possible. Whether these companies have done business with individuals within the last 18 months or not, the citizen has expressed the desire not to be contacted. It's time that the FCC respects these rights and does not crumble to financial and lobbying pressures. That's what we pay you for...do you job!